

CLASS ATTENDANCE

Class attendance is important for successful achievement in college. Therefore, students are expected to attend all class sessions for each course in which they are enrolled and to make up any work they miss during excused absences. Furthermore, instructors will define their own attendance policy. That policy, along with the Course Outline, will be written and given to the students during the first class meeting.

If a student misses too many classes (as defined in the instructor's attendance policy), an instructor may drop that student from the course. Students who need their attendance record kept for any reason should notify the instructor.
